7 TRIED AND TESTED WAYS FOR YOU TO MAKE 1 MILLION DOLLARS

Do you want to make a million dollars?

I know of seven different ways to make $1 Million

Making a Million Dollars

There are lots of different ways that you can make $1 Million. Property, Shares, Win the Lotto, Or if you're talented enough, you can play in the NBA.. But, if you don't have any of those talents, or you don't have the winning ticket for the lotto.... then the best way to make your Million Dollars is to start your own business. Or if you're an existing business owner, you can better optimise and grow the business you already have.

You have already done the hard work,
Making a Decision to make your Million Dollars.
Now, for the Million Dollar Strategies and application.

My Mentor, Robert Allen taught me this formula and now I'm teaching it to you. I've used it all throughout my career and even used it to create 3 Million dollar companies before the age of 30.

7 MILLION DOLLAR STRATEGIES

Basically, what it involves is working out what are you going to sell your product for? Now if you sell a product for $1, you have to sell a Million units to make $1 Million.

Sell Product for $1 x 1million customers buy = $1,000,000 ($1 Million)

But, if we change the formula a little bit and add one zero, we can sell a product for $10. So now we need to sell 90% less. We only need to sell a hundred thousand to make your Million dollars.

Sell Product for $10 x 100,000 customers buy = $1,000,000 ($1 Million)

So every time we add a zero over here, we get to take off a zero on the other side, which is pretty cool. Let's go a bit further.

If you sell a product for $100 you only need to sell 10,000 units to make a Million dollars.

Sell product for $100 x 10,000 customers buy = $1,000,000 ($1 Million)

If you go further and add another zero, your product sells for $1000. This means you'll only need to sell a thousand and you'll still make your Million dollars. This sounds more achievable.

Sell Product for $1,000 x 1,000 Customers buy = $1,000,000 ($1 Million)

If you sell a product for $10,000 then you only need to sell a hundred to get the same result.

Sell Product for $10,000 x 100 Customers buy = $1,000,000 ($1 Million)

If you then up it to a hundred thousand, which could be challenging but go with me for a moment. You're going to need to sell 10 units.

Sell Product for $100,000 x 10 Customers buy = $1,000,000 ($1 Million)

And if you sell a product for 1 Million dollars then you need to sell one of them to achieve your goal.

Sell Product for $1million x 1 Customer buy = $1,000,000 ($1 Million)

Now you can have a bit of fun with this and apply this principle several times over with different products. Why stop at $1 Million when you can have several. The Key Here is to start asking yourself the question what product could I sell for $1? What product could I sell for $10? Continue it to go up the ladder and you can look at what options are available to you. You can also look at what is the likelihood of you being able to sell that many units.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION

Let's try some examples. Let's imagine you are at home, what can you do? Now, this is best done with friends over a few glasses of wine and a pizza while you have fun with it. Get your kids involved. They have the best imaginations and can come up with the best ideas. Let's play with it for a moment

Now, this is where it gets really fun because you need to think really hard about this. Apart from thinking of a Million dollar product, you need to find that one person who wants what you have to offer.

Imagine this scenario. What if you approached a famous person and told him you wanted to hire him for three days? Would you be able to find somebody out of the 7 or 8 billion people on this planet? Someone willing to pay a Million dollars to spend 3 days with a famous person?
